

I confirmed that the current ERP5 software release in master branch is buildable on debian 10. So, once the installation script is fixed, ERP5 will be installable on debian 10. It means that developers who know slapos can build erp5 on debian without installation script now.